Housing
Housing
Most students live in private housing arrangements. Prices to rent a room are generally approx. € 280 per month. A deposit consisting of the first month’s rent, plus one or two additional months of rent, not including utility costs, must be deposited before moving in.

International Students may apply for support in finding accommodation at the central International Office of Hochschule Bremen. After receiving log-in information they get access to a website with selected hosts that work together with Hochschule Bremen and rent out rooms/apartments exclusively to HSB’s international students.

The student union manages the distribution of rooms in the student residence; these are in high demand and are assigned early. On average, it costs € 250 to rent a residence room.

Individual Accommodation in flats or shared housing (WG):
Students looking for a more authentic living experience and who are confident enough to look for accommodation individually, may want to look at the following housing listings:

- bremen.homecompany.de
- easywg.de
- studenten-wg.de
- wg-gesucht.de
- wg-klick.de
- wg-welt.de
- wohngemeinschaft.de
- zwischenmiete.de

Tuition Fee

Approximate Living Cost

While individual needs differ greatly, you can expect to devote at least between 600 and 660 Euros per month to living expenses. The results of a student union study found that students in Bremen spend on average € 704.16 per month. The average rent was found to be € 268.79. More information, particularly for students can be found under: Leben in Deutschland.

Health Insurance
Every student must be insured (see Health Insurance). You should also have personal liability insurance; it will protect you if you unintentionally damage others’ property. Please find out if any outstanding personal liability insurance issued in your home country will be valid for your stay in Germany.

Deutsche Versicherungen im Vergleich.

All students in Germany require health insurance; proof of insurance must be displayed in order to register. Information is available at the International Office. Exchange students from partner universities can additionally meet with insurance company representatives at the beginning of each semester at the Newcomer Service event at the International Office!

Krankenversicherung für ausländische Studierende.

Visa Requirements

Students have to apply for their German visa at through the “Akademische Prüfstelle” (APS) under the “A-Verfahren”: https://www.aps.org.cn/web/zh

A group number is required which Hochschule Bremen will submit to the students to proceed with the further process.

Other Information

Website for Incoming Exchange Students:

Application Deadlines:

- June 1st for winter semester applications
- January 15th for summer semester applications

The application form for students from partner institutions can be found at:

The student contacts the persons in charge of the cooperation at his/her home university in order to make arrangements for his/her studies. The co-ordinators at both institutions (home university and Hochschule Bremen) will inform the applicant about the details for applying.

Once the application is received from Hochschule Bremen’s International Office, the student will receive his/her acceptance letter together with our admittance information.
