Online Mandarin Course Conducted the Student Evaluation

2020 Spring Semester
Students Evaluation of the Teachers

On the 6th teaching week, the UNNC CI conducted a student evaluation for online Mandarin course.

As it was the first time to deliver Mandarin course online, students' comments are very important and helpful for the teachers to reflect on their teaching and make improvements.

Since the re-opening of the university, face to face Mandarin courses are available now. Mandarin learners are welcome to reserve face to face class with teachers. Meanwhile the online course will keep updating in order to facilitate students who prefers remote study.

International Students Chinese Competition

Jointly organized by the UNNC Confucius Institute and Department of Campus Life, and coordinated by the UNNC Mandarin Corner, the International Students Chinese Competition was successfully held from 7 to 23 Apr, as a component of the UNNC International Education Week.

The theme of this competition was on students life and experience to fight against the Covid-19. A big congratulations to Suthida Chang from Thailand won the first place in the competition.
