NCI Live Broadcasting

4th June, the Confucius Institute together with Global Recruitment Office conducted an online live broadcasting on learning Mandarin at UNNC. Seren Hu and Yona Yuan as the representatives of the Mandarin teachers of the CI presented the HSK test, HSK training courses and the courses aiming to serve the daily life in China. They also showed some colorful cultural events which aimed to help the international students learn about China and its people from a different perspective. Viola Ye from the Global Engagement Office said, the talk hit the highest number of live show audiences for this episode and the end of the day, it had reached over 500 audiences on Facebook. The video is available now in the link: <https://www.facebook.com/unncglobal/videos/3215642105122579/>

Chinese Talent Showcase

Mandarin learners for HSK 4 had a special Chinese talent show. Being unable to meet with each other, they either wrote article or designed poster in Chinese to call for a raise of awareness to protect the earth.

Update about HSK tests

14th June, NCI Ningbo held the by time largest scale of HSK test in this semester. Due to the Covid-19, tests in March, April and May were all postponed to June. As a consequence, 57 students which almost reached the top capacity of our test site sat the exam. Thanks to the great help from Security and Safety Office and IT Services, the test was operated smoothly and successfully. It is anticipated that the number of candidates in July and August will very probably reach our full capacity, thus if one needs a certificate urgently, please register the test as early as possible.
